Six More Japanese Ships Are Damaged In Solomons Fight

BULLETIN
(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Damaging of six more Japanese ships in the great sea and air battle for the Solomon islands was announced by the Navy today in a communique which said that the results of the fight to date "are encouraging."

The ships reported today to have been successfully attacked by American aircraft were two destroyers and four miscellaneous vessels.

The list of Jap ships reported today as damaged raised to more than a dozen the enemy vessels damaged in the new thrust the Japanese undertook, starting last week-end, to drive United States marines out of the Tulagi area of the Solomons and regain that vital sector.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Battle of the Solomons apparently raged with increased fury and in a widening area today as the Japanese rushed reinforcements for a huge armada seeking to recapture American-held shore bases.

Locked in thunderous sea and air engagements which may possibly determine naval supremacy of the Pacific, American forces inflicted severe damage on enemy warships and planes in the southeastern group of the Solomons while about 450 miles west Allied planes from General MacArthur's headquarters smashed at an eastbound Japanese convoy.

The entire picture of the spreading conflict was far from complete but reports from the navy here and from MacArthur's Australian headquarters made it clear that Japan was risking a heavy portion of its fleet in a desperate effort to dislodge American Marines from their hard-won positions in the Solomons.

The counter-attack, fully expected by the Navy, already has brought bombing or torpedoing of more than a half dozen Japanese ships in the Solomons plus the stranding of two transports and destruction of a gunboat off south-eastern New Guinea.

The damaged vessels included one large and one small aircraft carrier. Only eight carriers were known to have been part of the enemy fleet before Pearl Harbor, although others undoubtedly have been constructed secretly. Six Japanese carriers were sunk in previous battles, including four in the Midway battle, one probably destroyed, and three others damaged there and off the Aleutian islands.

Additional punishment in the Solomons battle was inflicted by Allied carrier-based planes on a Japanese battleship and several cruisers. U. S. aircraft let another enemy cruiser and transport in flames.

Thus far there have been no reports on the extent of American losses beyond the minor damage suffered at the opening of the conflict on August 23, when 21 Japanese planes were listed as destroyed in an attack on Guadalcanal Island.

Approximately 150 miles west of the convoy action, MacArthur reported to SOLOMONS, Page 8

PLEADS NOT GUILTY IN CUTTING SCRAPE
Earl Anthony, Alliance Negro held on a charge of cutting with intent to wound, pleaded not guilty before Mayor R. R. Johnson this morning and was held to the Columbus county grand jury under $1,000 bond.

The charge was filed by Paul Jones, colored, also of Alliance, who was stabbed under the right arm by Anthony during an argument near the Pennsylvania railroad station where the men were working with a section gang, police related. The wound was not serious.

Fred Miller of R. D. Salem, arrested by police on a charge of intoxication and disorderly conduct, was fined $5 and costs when given a hearing before the mayor today.

School Classes Will Start Half-Hour Later This Fall
Will Begin at 9 A. M. To Avoid Early Morning Darkness; Afternoon Sessions Lengthened

School bells are going to ring a half hour later than usual for Salem pupils this term.

Supt. of Schools E. S. Kerr, in discussing the opening of school Sept. 10 for the 1942-43 year, said today that it had been definitely decided to have classes take up at 9 a. m. instead of 8:30, the customary time, which will be abandoned due to the advent of Eastern War Time.

When the nation adopted War Time schedules Feb. 9 and clocks were advanced one hour, students found themselves groping their way to school in semi-darkness during the closing days of winter.

The half-hour delay in the opening of school in the mornings is expected to overcome this, the superintendent explained.

Afternoon Session Longer
The students will be dismissed as usual at the noon hour, although classes will be in session a half-hour longer in the afternoon. The

QUESTION 150 ON GRIPSHOLM AT ELLIS ISLE

Only 300 Passengers Out of 1,400 Repatriates Are Disembarked

FBI IS CHECKING FOR UNDESIRABLES

Several More Days, At Least, May Be Needed To Clear Ship

(By Associated Press)
JERSEY CITY, N. J., Aug. 26.—Government officials announced today that about 150 passengers among the more than 1,400 repatriates aboard the diplomatic liner Gripsholm had been taken to Ellis Island for questioning.

While there was no official comment on the reason for this ostensibly it was because officials had found their papers unsatisfactory or wished to question them more intensively.

The U. S. immigration station is on Ellis Island and it is there that enemy alien hearings are conducted. There was the possibility that some might have been transferred there because of illness, since there is also a government hospital on the island.

Until last midnight about 300 passengers—including all of the American diplomats—had been disembarked, but by 10 a. m. (E.W.T.) today only about four or five more had left the ship and a customs official said it would take several more days at least to clear all the passengers who were brought here from the Orient in exchange for Japanese and Thai nationals in this country.

As the big white ship docked yesterday with American, Canadian and Latin-American diplomats, missionaries, newspapermen and business men, federal investigators clambered aboard from cutters to prevent any undesirable from slipping into this country.

Even the more than 1,000 American citizens aboard were being questioned.

A government official said yesterday that any under suspicion would be transferred directly to Ellis Island for further examination, rather than be held aboard, in order to expedite clearance of the vessel.

RECRUITERS SIGN UP MEN FOR NAVY
The United States Navy's mobile recruiting station, termed the "U. S. Recruiter," began signing up Salem and district youths for Navy service today following an opening program last night.

Stationed at the corner of E. State st. and S. Broadway, officers of the recruiter presented a program of navy information and motion pictures last night to a large crowd of persons who stood on S. Broadway which was roped off especially for the occasion.

The actual enlistment of men for the Navy's fighting and construction units got under way this morning.

Honor Roll Of World War 2

Merely records today — but history tomorrow.

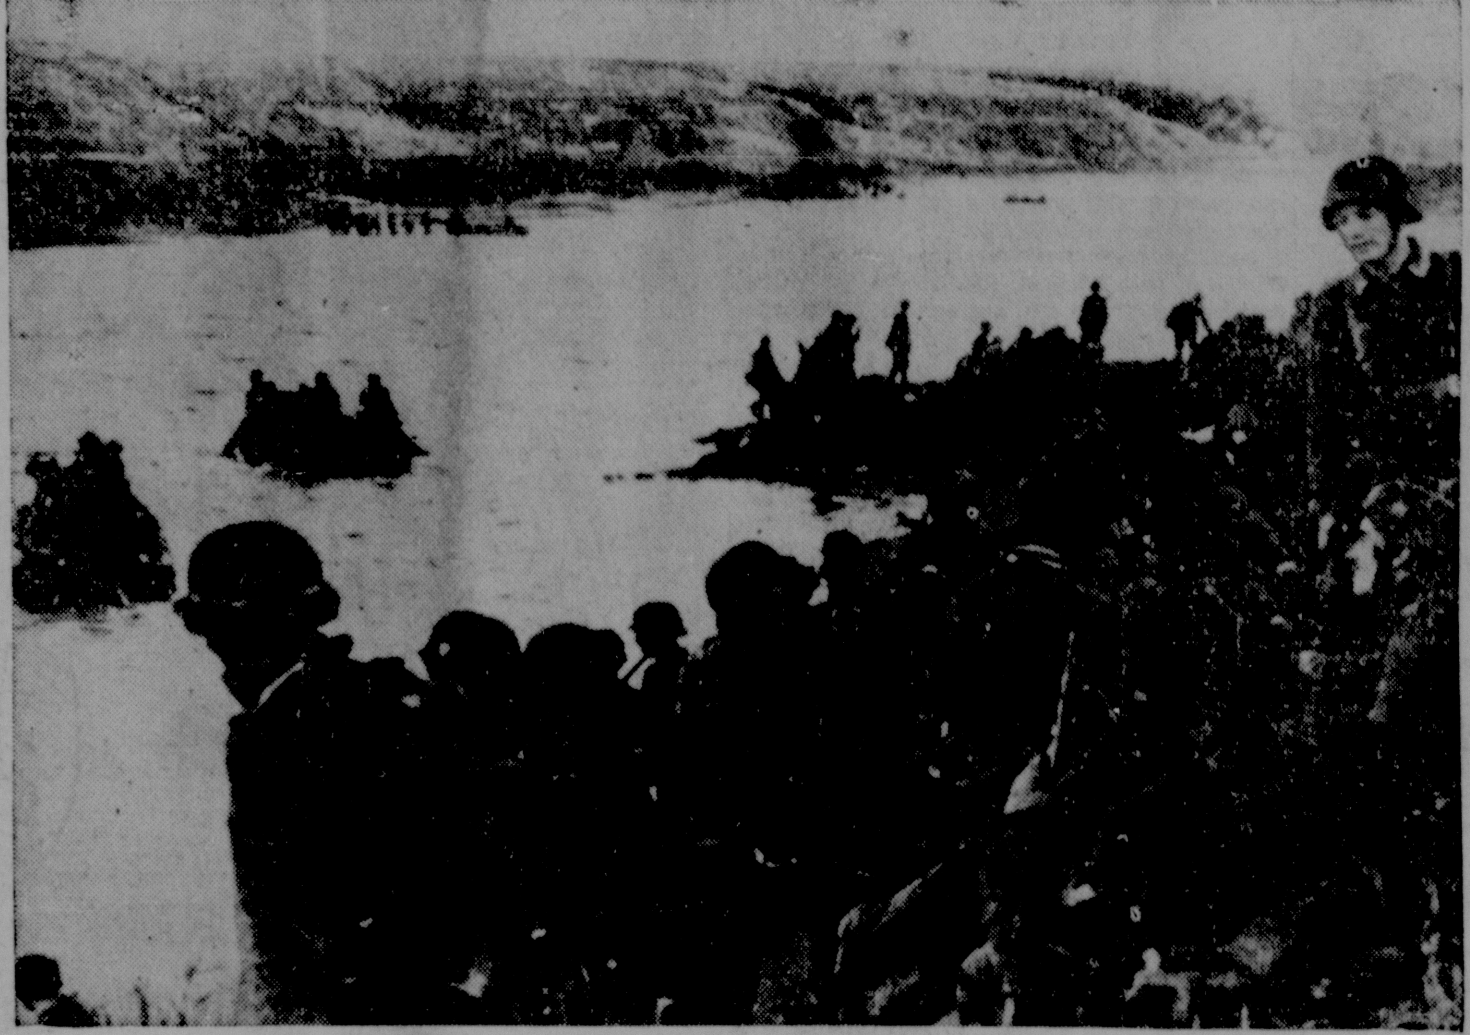

The names and the events in one of the most striking eras of all time are being noted now, and in years to come will occupy a prominent place in world's history.

Names of Salem men who are now serving, and will serve, their country's armed forces, will be kept as were the names of those in World War I. The American Legion is essaying this task, and it asks co-operation of the public. The public's job is light. All that it has to do is send in the names of men in the service. These are to be sent or brought directly to the Editorial department of the Salem News, which is co-operating with the Legion in its project.

The names of all service men, regardless of whether they are enlisted men or inductees, are sought. No name should be omitted from this honor roll.

FDR WILL GIVE 2 ADDRESSES

First, On Sept. 3, Will Be Directed To Youth of Entire World

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—President Roosevelt today scheduled two additional, major radio addresses, one of which, on September 3, will be directed to the youth of the entire world.

The other, to be delivered August 31, will be made at the dedication of the new Navy Medical Center in suburban Bethesda, Md., on the 100th anniversary of the founding of the navy's bureau of medicine and surgery.

Will Discuss Costs
The White House disclosed also that a forthcoming presidential speech centering on the problem of spiraling living costs and inflation probably would be on Labor day.

Mr. Roosevelt had said yesterday he expected on, before or after Labor day to send congress a message and make a radio address to the country on a plan now being evolved to combat inflation.

The September 3 speech will take place at 12:30 p. m., Eastern War Time, and the immediate audience will be an assembly of the International Students Service here, including students from all of the United Nations.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, said:

"The President will speak through this assembly to the youth of the world."

Friends Await Missionary Workers, Back From Orient

Group Arrives On Exchange Ship Gripsholm: Will Try To Attend Rally In Damascus

Forced to flee from war-torn lands back to their native America, Friends missionaries who departed originally from their homes here to preach peace on earth, good will toward all men, are having reunion and fellowship with their former associates and friends at the Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends.

The religious gathering opened yesterday at Damascus and will continue through Sunday.

With keen anxiety the crowds are awaiting the arrival of Rev. Charles and Elsie Matti, Miss Freda Ginsberger and Dr. Ezra DeVol, Friends missionaries in China who arrived yesterday in New York aboard the diplomatic exchange ship Gripsholm which brought a total of 1,451 repatriated Americans from the far Pacific war zone.

Rev. and Mrs. Matti are expected to conduct services at both the Meeting house and the Damascus church Sunday afternoon. The couple has been in mission work in China since 1925 although they have enjoyed several furloughs since that time.

Other Friends missionaries and former workers in the mission fields are appearing on the Ohio Yearly Meeting programs, among them Miss Alena Calkins, who returned recently from Bombay, India; Miss Ethel Naylor, a former mission envoy in China; Miss Esther Baird, retired senior Friends missionary in China, and Mrs. Verica Cox, formerly of Beloit, missionary to the Yunnan province.

The missionaries who were present were introduced yesterday by Ralph

BRITISH PEOPLE CALL FOR ACTION

Say Churchill Will Have to Do More Than Merely Visit Moscow

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Aug. 26.—Portions of the British frankly told Prime Minister Churchill today that Britain needs concrete evidence that his trip to Moscow and the Middle East has produced results and warned that he must bolster home morale.

The Daily Herald, mouthpiece of the potent Trades Union congress, declared:

"The British public's taste and trivial gossip about the prime minister's missions is flagging and its appetite for real news—news of results—is approaching the famine point."

The editorial was considered significant because the Trade Union congress is to consider a resolution demanding an immediate second front at its conference opening Sept. 7.

The Herald said Mr. Churchill's trips to Moscow, the Middle East and Washington "will become mere curios of history unless there emerges from them a coherent plan and common strategy for conduct of the war."

The Daily Mail proposed that Mr. Churchill now visit British cities to give the people guidance and thus "deal with a apathy before it begins to spread."

The more restrained Times remarked that neither the Dieppe raid nor the bombing of Germany "has relieved the continuing sense of inadequacy in British military achievement of a time when our allies face a supreme crisis."

The prime minister's first public report on his mission to Moscow and the Middle East probably will be made to the house of commons in about two weeks, British political sources said.

The frequently well-informed diplomatic correspondent of the News Chronicle said it was "rumored that major changes in the whole organization and character of Britain's supreme war direction" might follow the prime minister's homecoming.

ALLIED TROOP MOVE FEARED

Italy Reports Concentrations In Mediterranean Areas

(By Associated Press)
BERN, Switzerland, Aug. 26.—The Rome correspondent of the Tribune De Geneve said today that reports of Allied concentrations of transports and warships at Gibraltar and West African ports were current in Italy, where they were interpreted as possible preparations for opening a second front.

The correspondent said "these considerable concentrations," according to views held in Rome, might be intended as reinforcements for Atlantic convoys, "but it is also thought possible that they are destined for use in a surprise attack in the Mediterranean basin similar to that at Dieppe."

The correspondent said Italians are pointing to French Tunisia as "the most exposed point" in the Mediterranean and asserting that "Anglo-Saxon enterprises against French possessions have succeeded very well." (The reference presumably is to the occupation of Syria.)

The writer said an Allied attack on Tunisia would put Allied forces at the back of the Axis armies in Egypt.

Other Mediterranean areas, he continued, are considered well prepared against "all eventualities."

British, Yanks Cooperating In Making "Secret Weapon"

It'll Prove "A Great Surprise" To Germans, Says Gen. Barnes, Chief of U. S. Ordnance Mission

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Aug. 26.—The head of the United States army ordnance mission said today the British and Americans both were producing a "secret weapon" which would prove "a great surprise" to the Germans.

The ordnance chief is Brig. Gen. G. M. Barnes.

Speaking after a tour of British munitions factories, he declared that United States and British armament production was sufficient both in quality and quantity for "the support of a full-sized army in any enterprise."

General Barnes said some of the new British weapons now in production were "real eye-openers."

The general, 56, is chief of the U. S. War department design section and an expert on the design and manufacture of heavy ordnance, particularly anti-aircraft guns. He arrived in London recently at the head of a technical mission to work with the British in correlating allied fighting material.

The type of the new secret weapon was not hinted.

"A three-week tour of British factories has convinced me that America has a lesson to learn in the employment of women in munitions making," the general said at a press conference.

"We employ women, but we are going to have to employ many more. The British are using women in tasks such as boring guns, which in the United States is done only by skilled mechanics."

British and United States ordnance already is rapidly being coordinated so that it can be used interchangeably by the two armies, General Barnes said, and cited such devices as anti-aircraft artillery and gun mounts.

He described himself as astonished at how little bombing had damaged British industry.

The general said his mission would leave soon to return to Washington.

STALINGRAD'S WORKERS AID RUSSIAN ARMY

Called from Factories and Shops, Take Posts On Bank of Don

CITY PLACED IN DANGER OF SIEGE

Soviet Counting On Caucasus Barrier To Help In Defense

(By Associated Press)
MOSCOW, Aug. 26.—Two successive German thrusts through Russian lines between the Don and Volga placed Stalingrad today in immediate peril of siege.

As the German tanks and other armored machines lunged ahead, thousands of workers from Stalingrad factories took up arms on the high west bank of the Volga to help the Red army defend the great industrial city.

German vanguards had reached the flat, sandy plain extending to the Volga just northwest of Stalingrad and Russian tanks were fighting them in running battle, bringing them to at least a temporary halt.

Help Armed Forces
A dispatch from Stalingrad said the people of the city had taken up arms on the high west bank of the Volga as the German armored forces bore down from the breakthrough at the Don.

Izvestia's correspondent said thousands of workers from the factories, including the Stalingrad tractor works and the Red October metal works, had been trained under battle conditions to use rifles, automatic machine-guns and mortars.

"All these fighters are ready to join the ranks of the acting army," Izvestia said. Last winter, hundreds of thousands of workers helped turn the Germans back from Leningrad and Moscow.

The army newspaper Red Star said a German force lanced between two Red army units and "reached a district just northwest of Stalingrad" before it was halted, implying that the invaders were only a few miles from the city if not at its suburbs.

Russian tanks reformed behind screening tanks, the papers said. "The situation in this sector has become complicated," the Soviet information bureau said.

Russian troops, however, were reported still repulsing attacks by

TWO RECAPTURED IN PRISON BREAK

Six, Armed With Butcher Knives, Flee Hamilton County Jail

(By Associated Press)
CINCINNATI, Aug. 26.—Two of six prisoners who overpowered guards and, armed with butcher knives, forced an escape from Hamilton county jail last night were captured early today.

Orville Lockhart, 19, and Ernest Riddell, 23, submitted peacefully to Deputy Sheriff William Holke and a city police squad under Lieut. Lloyd Simon at the home of Lockhart's brother-in-law, James L. Spaulding, in suburban Fairfax. Spaulding was held and will be charged with harboring the fugitives, Holke said.

Separate From Others
Lockhart and Riddell, arrested together July 9 on charges of burglary, told police they had separated from the other fugitives after the six fled into downtown Sycamore street from a jail elevator exit.

Still hunted here and in nearby Kentucky and Indiana were Elsa Houtchens, 23, of Louisville, Ky., jailed on an automobile theft charge; and three Cincinnatians, Frank L. Wiener, 31, charged with receiving stolen goods and defrauding an innkeeper; Eugene Woon, 32, awaiting grand jury action on charges of forging a government check; and Paul Douglas, 17, held for juvenile authorities on charges of stealing.

A WELCOME ALLY

The United Nations give a hearty welcome to Brazil as another nation which has entered the war as an active participant against the Axis. Largest of the South American countries, Brazil has much to contribute to the Allied cause.

The country has abundant manpower and many natural resources but, more importantly, she has harbors and numerous good landing fields from which the ships and planes of her allies may operate. Brazil does not have a large army but she has several million men who have had rudimentary military training. Size of her air fleet is secret but it is large and modern.

Lying closest to Africa, only 1,600 miles from vital Dakar to which planes maintained regular non stop service before the war, Brazil is a bayonet pointed at the Axis backdoor.

The political effect is important also. Because the Axis wants to keep Brazil neutral at least, her diplomats had access to Berlin and Rome until recently. The declaration of war points significantly to the probability that Brazilian envoys believe, from what they have seen and heard, that the Axis will be defeated.

Furthermore, her action will have a powerful influence over the course of other South American countries, all of which are important in determining the course which the war will take. Even though Brazil should send not a soldier or a ship overseas, her action is a step toward victory.

OUR RATION BOOKS

One of the advantages of a universal ration book, such as Americans now carry to the store with them when they buy sugar, has not mentioned by the Office of Price Administration but doubtless is filed away in the OPA mind.

If individual ration books were required for each commodity, it would be impossible to prepare for additional rationing without great advance preparation, printing and distribution of forms and such things, with the result that the public would be notified long in advance and hoarders could lay in a supply before restrictions became effective.

By using one simple book the OPA can announce any morning that, effective immediately, any commodity is to be rationed and that the coupon for a sack of sugar will also entitle the holder to make a purchase of any other restricted commodity. It may not be necessary to ration other things but if the time ever does come restrictions can be clamped on without fuss and without giving advance notice to wouldbe hoarders.

WAR BASIS FOR SCHOOLS

The nation's schools will be opening next month on a war basis. Many of them face a lack of teachers since many of the younger male members of their staffs have entered service. High schools expect a shrinkage in upper classes because many of the older boys are in war industries and some are in uniforms. Colleges already have streamlined their courses to allow students to graduate in the shortest possible time so they can take their places in industry or in the services, all of which need men with college training.

The government, badly as it wants youths in the upper teens and lower twenties, recognizes the need for specially trained men in this most scientific of all wars and urged pupils to remain in school as long as possible. Deferment is provided in proper cases for young men nearing the end of college courses in subjects which will be useful in the war effort.

These are the days when the pupils must be making hard decisions. No general rule will cover all cases but in the majority the best service which any youth can render is to go back to school, work hard and fit himself for the specialized places which require more than ordinary preparation. If the nation needs him as a soldier more than it does as a student, it will call him.

FATEFUL MOMENTS

By DE WITT MACKENZIE

Wide World War Analyst

As the diplomatic exchange liner Gripsholm docked in New York harbor yesterday with its load of wan-faced Americans repatriated from the barbarities of loathsome Japanese prison, cells, the home-comers wept and cheered brokenly at sight of the Statue of Liberty and the Stars and Stripes of freedom.

Today in the far southwestern Pacific among the Solomon Islands American and Japanese forces are locked in a great sea and air conflict which may go far toward determining whether those Stars and Stripes shall continue to promise liberty.

A Japanese victory might take the Nipponese a long way toward achievement of their announced ambition of dictating peace in Washington. That would mean the transfer to our America of the torture chamber, the wholesale murders and rapings, and the insufferable militaristic repression which exceeds even Hitlerism in its brutal arrogance.

This is indeed a fateful moment for us and our Allies. Not only is the wheel of fortune whirling in the Orient, but over in the milling Russian theater Herr Hitler is throwing into the decisive battle of the Caucasus every ounce of striking power he possesses in an effort to make a kill. The position of the Red armies is one of dire peril, though it isn't by any means hopeless.

In perhaps eight weeks or so that wheel of fortune will stop spinning and the little ball will drop to tell us what our luck may be. Our great concern, of course, is Hitler. He must be stopped before snow flies. If we can keep him away from fresh resources, and preserve the Red fighting machine from destruction, then we shall have our grasp on victory, for we can handle the Japs once we have stopped Hitler.

We haven't yet enough facts about the engagement in the Pacific to say that it will have decisive effects. We don't know the size of the forces engaged, and that is essential to our calculations.

However, from the meager information at hand it would appear that the Nipponese are gambling with a large section of their grand fleet. It also would seem that we have inflicted considerable losses on the enemy, but there's no word of what our own losses—if any—have been.

If the Japs are risking a great naval fleet, besides air power, then we have in the conflict all the elements for a decision which may be a sure guide to the outcome of the war with Japan. We appear to have the advantage of being able to meet the Japanese warships with land-based bombers, and that in itself might spell disaster for the mikado's forces.

If we can inflict on the Japanese now a further heavy naval loss, without ourselves suffering severely, then we probably shall have settled the supremacy of the Pacific in our favor. And that at least would be a handful of nails in the Jap coffin.

CHANCES OF FOOTBALL INJURY

Clendenen Continues Sports Discussion

By LOGAN CLENDENEN, M. D.
IF YOU HAVE a boy entering High school this fall and you let him play football, the chances are 100 per cent he will get bruised up somewhat during the season.

The chances are one to four that he will receive an injury sufficiently serious to lay him up.

The chances are one to five that he will receive a permanent injury

Dr. Clendenen will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

that will last through life—ranging from some front teeth out, a flattened nose, a fracture around a joint that will leave a stiff joint for life, or a cartilage dislocated from a knee, or a fractured pelvis.

The chances are about one in 1,000 that he will be killed.

The chances are about one in 10,000 that he will have to have a leg amputated.

The chances are very remote, but I know of two cases, that he will be blinded for life.

Dangers for High School Players

In college these chances are about halved. The college player has more mature bones, better protective equipment and is a little more wary. That is why I think football should be prohibited for High school students until at least the senior year.

These statements are made on the basis of a nationwide clipping service that I began to subscribe to last September. I by no means claim they are complete.

If you think I exaggerate, let me quote the report of the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council, for the year 1941: "One out of every three football players is injured each year. Based on a five-year survey, 100,000 such injuries cost American parents $1,000,000 annually. Between 60,000 and 75,000 boys are temporarily crippled each year and 1,225,000 school days are lost through injuries."

I have records of 23 deaths last year from football injuries—one in college, 14 in High school and eight on sandlots.

The coaches don't like these figures. One of them wrote a very sarcastic article about me last year. The next day one of the players on his team was killed by injury during the game. When interviewed, the coach said that such things constituted only a small percentage considering how many players of football there were in the country. That should have been a great comfort to the dead boy's parents.

But the coaches ought to be careful themselves. There is considerable occupational hazard to being a football coach. Two last year died of heart failure during the game; these were those fellows who had built up such a fine physique through a lifetime of athletics. We all hear football is so good for the health.

I have a record of 11 coaches who suffered injuries as serious as broken bones, or worse, while teaching their pupils how to protect themselves.

Three games in 1941 were called off because one or the other team had injured so many players in action that they could not muster 11 whole men who could stand on their feet.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

J. N.: Will a blood test such as is given draftees when inducted into the Army show without doubt whether a man is afflicted with hemophilia (bleeder's disease)?

Answer: If the coagulation time of the blood is tested, it will show positively whether hemophilia is present or not. I do not know how many induction boards give this test. Usually by the time a man arrives at draft age he knows whether he is a hemophiliac or not by his history of hemorrhage.

That Extra Something!
...You can spot it every time

OF COURSE the Armed Services get Coca-Cola just as they get all the good things that are wanted and needed to do each job.

Coca-Cola has that extra something to do the job of complete refreshment. It has a taste that's uniquely satisfying—a quality that's unmistakable. And there's a real reason for that. Coca-Cola holds the original secret of unique refreshment... a finished art in its making... a blend of wholesome flavors that can't be copied.

Your experience has discovered this special something in Coca-Cola... delicious taste with no cloying after-taste... refreshment in the finest form. The only thing like Coca-Cola is another Coca-Cola.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called Coke, Coca-Cola and Coke mean the same thing...the real thing...a single thing coming from a single source, and well known to the community."

At U. S. O. recreation centers, you'll see how happily ice-cold Coca-Cola "cuts in" to make "intermission" a refreshing moment on the sunny side of things. It makes for morale.

The best is always the better buy!

CHAPTER FORTY-EIGHT

Out of the unused fifteen they chose two large attic rooms with a view over roof tops northward as far as Hampstead and Highgate, and it was fun to begin buying the bare necessities of furniture and utensils, searching the Caledonian Market for broken-down chairs that could be repaired and reupholstered, discarded shop fittings usable as bookshelves, an old school desk that showed mahogany under its coating of ink and dirt. Gradually the rooms became a home, and the entire vacant floor beneath encouraged a kinship with roofs and sky rather than with the walls and pavements of the streets.

Towards the end of September, Blampied received a quarterly payment which he chose to devote to a crusading holiday rather than to paying arrears of his borough council rates. Having invited Smith and Paula to join the expedition, he took them for a week into rural Oxfordshire "making trouble wherever we go," as the parson put it, though that was an exaggeration. The question of country footpads was, he admitted, his King Charles's Head—every man, he added, should have some small matter to which he attaches undue importance, always provided that he realizes the unimportance. Realizing it all the time, Blampied would puzzle over ancient maps in bar parlors, inquiring from villagers whether it was still possible to take the diagonal way across the fields from Planter's Estate to Marsh Hollow, and generally receiving the answer that no one ever did—it was much quicker to go round by the road, and so on. "I reckon you could if you tried, mister, but you'd have a rare time gettin' through them nettles."

A few more pints of beer would perhaps elicit the information that "I remember when I was a kid I used to go to school that way, but wouldn't be no help now, not with the new school where it is." Yet those, as the parson emphasized, drinking his beer as copiously as the rest, were the paths their forefathers had trod, the secret short cuts across hill and valley, the ways by which the local man could escape or intercept while the armed stranger tramped along the highroads. All of which failed to carry much weight with the Oxfordshire men of 1919, many of whom, as armed strangers, had tramped the highroads of other countries. They obviously regarded the parson as an oddity, but being country people they knew that men, like trees and unlike suburban houses, were never exactly the same, and this idea of unsameness as the pattern of life meant that (as Blampied put it) they didn't think there was anything very odd in anyone being a little odd.

Several times the parson spoke on village greens to small, curious, unenthusiastic audiences, most of whom melted away when he suggested that there and then they should march over the ancient ground, breaking down any barriers that might have been erected during the past century or so; but in one village there was a more acute response, due to the fact that the closing of a certain path had been recent and resented. It was then that Blampied showed a certain childlike pugnacity; he clearly derived enormous enjoyment from leading a crowd of perhaps fifty persons, many of them youngsters out for a lark, through Hilltop Farm and up Long Meadow to the gap in the hedge that was now laced with fresh barbed wire. Smith found he could best be useful in preventing the children from destroying crops or tearing their clothes; he thought the whole expedition a trifle silly but pleasingly novel. Actually this particular onslaught had quite an exciting finish; the owner of the property, a certain General Sir Richard Hawkesley Wych-Furlough, suddenly appeared on the scene, backed by a menacing array of servants and gamekeepers. Everything pointed to a battle, but all that finally developed was a long and wordy argument between the General and the parson, culminating in retirement by both sides and a final shout from the General: "What in blazes has this business got to do with you, anyway? You don't live here!" "And that," Blampied said afterwards, "from a man who used to be Governor of so many islands he could only visit a few of them once a year—so that any islander might have met his administrative decisions with the same retort—'What's it got to do with you? You don't live here!'"

The notion continued to please him as he added: "I was a missionary on one of those islands—till I quarreled with the bosses. I always quarrel with bosses...."

Gradually Smith and Paula began to piece together Blampied's history. Born of a wealthy family whom he had long ago given up, no less emphatically than they had him, he had originally entered the Church as a respectable and sanctioned form of eccentricity for the younger sons. Later, even more eccentrically and with a good deal more sincerity, he had served as a missionary in the South Seas until his employers discovered him to be not only heretical, but a bad compiler of reports. After that he had come home to edit a religious magazine, resigning only when plunging circulation led to its bankruptcy. For a time after that he had dabbled in politics, joining the early Fabians, with whom he never quarreled at all, but from whom he became estranged by a widening gulf of mutual exasperation. "The truth is, Smith," he confessed, "I never could get along with all the Risers-to-Second-That and the On-a-Point-of-Orders. If I were God, I'd say—Let there be Light. But as I'm not God, I'd rather spend my time plotting for Him in the dark than in holding committee meetings in a man-made blaze of publicity!"

He formed the habit of talking with the two of them for an hour or so most evenings, especially as summer lagged behind and coal began to burn in a million London grates. To roof dwellers it was a rather dirty but strangely comforting transition—the touch of smoke-laden fog drifting up from the river, the smell of smoldering heaps in parks and gardens, the chill that seemed the perfect answer to a fire, as the fire was to the chill. For London, Blampied claimed, was of all cities in the world the most autumnal—it's mellow brickwork harmonizing with fallen leaves and October sunsets, just as the etched grays of November composed themselves with the light and shade of Portland stone. There was a charm, a deathless charm, about a city whose inhabitants went about muttering, "The nights are drawing in," as if it were a spell to invoke the vast, sprawling creature-comfort of winter. Indeed no phrase, he once said, better expressed the feeling of curtailed enclosure, of almost stupefying cosiness, than blankets London throughout the dark months—a sort of spiritual central heating, warm and sometimes weepy, but not depressing—a Dickensian, never a Proustian fug.

Those were the happy days when

Smith began to write. As most real writers do, he wrote because he had something to say, not because of any specific ambition to be a writer. He turned out countless articles and sketches that gave him pleasure only because they contained a germ of what was in his mind; but he was never fully satisfied with them himself and consequently never more than slightly disappointed when editors promptly returned them. He did not grasp that, because he was a person of no importance, nobody wanted to read his opinions at all. Presently, by sheer accident, he wrote something that fitted a formula; it was promptly accepted and—even more important for him at the time—paid for.

After he had worked all morning he would often set out in the afternoon with Paula on a planless excursion decided by some chance-met bus, or sometimes they would tramp haphazardly first to the left, then to the right, mile after mile, searching for books or furniture in old gas-lit shops, and returning late at night through the narrow defiles of the City. They liked the City, the city with a capital C, and especially at dusk, when all the tea-shops filled with men, a curious democracy within a plutocracy—silk-hatted stockbrokers buying twopenny cups while at the same time two-pounds-a-week clerks drank similar cups and talked of wireless or motor bicycles or their suburban back gardens.

And afterwards, as Paula took Smith's arm on the pavement outside, they would be caught in the human current sweeping along Old Broad Street in a single eastward stream, then crossing Liverpool Street like a flood tide into the vast station delta. He loved to see those people, so purposeful and yet so gentle, so free and yet so disciplined, hurrying towards the little moving boxes that would carry them home to secret suburbs—because they were so unknown to one another, so that bus shuttling all day between Putney and Homerton gave one a mystical curiosity about all the people in Homerton who had never seen Putney, and all the people in Putney for whom Homerton was as strange as—perhaps stranger than—Paris or New York. There was something fantastic, too, in that morning and evening migration, huge in man miles than any movement of the hordes of Tamerlane, something that might well be incomprehensible to the urban masses of the future, schooled to garden cities and decentralization. But there could never be such romance as in the pull of steam through the Bishopsgate tunnels, or faces that stared in friendly indifference as trains raced parallel out of Waterloo.

He wrote of such things, and he wrote as he saw—a little naively, as if things had never been seen before—like something of the same piercing simplicity. It probably helped him, as Blampied said, to have forgotten so much about himself, because into that absence came an awareness far beyond the personal reach—the idea of the past as something to be apprehended in vision rather than explored in memory. He wrote, too, of the countryside as he had seen it; of the men in the pubs with their red faces shy over mugs of beer—old couples outside their cottages on summer evenings, silent and close, yet in that silence and closeness telling all there is in the world—a peddler unlatching a gate with slow steps towards a lonely house—farm workers at midday, asleep under trees—a little road over the hill, curving here and there for no reason at all.... scene after scene, as a child turns pages in a loved picture book, yet behind the apocalyptic wonderment of it all there was something to which talks with Blampied had added shape and quality—the vision of a new England rooted far back in the old, drawing its strength from a thousand years instead of its weaknesses from a hundred.

"Follow that vision," Blampied once said, "Follow it wherever it leads. Think it out. Write it down."

I'd say preach it if the word hadn't been debased by so many of my own profession.

"I couldn't preach, anyhow. No more public appearances for me after the last one."

"But preaching doesn't need a pulpit. All it needs is what you have—a faith."

"Is yours the same faith?"

OHIO PENSIONERS WILL GET INCREASE

COLUMBUS, Aug. 26.—Most of Ohio's 139,000 old age pensioners will receive benefit increases ranging from 10 to 12 per cent monthly, Karl R. Babb, acting chief of the state division of aid for the aged, announced today.

He said the increases, affecting practically all except recipients in the higher brackets, would help meet rising living costs. He estimated they would total $333,333 monthly.

Babb said the adjustments will become effective with October payments.

The average monthly award advanced from $22.58 in January, 1939, to $24.25 in August, 1942, and "thousands of awards have already been increased during the first eight months of this year," he reported. A survey of all cases and the cost of living in various areas is being made to determine additional needs.

A slight decrease in pension rolls makes the adjustments possible without exceeding budgetary allotments for pensions, Babb declared.

Gov. John W. Bricker, in approving the increases, asserted: "One of our major problems has been an attempt to keep our awards to the needy aged in line with actual needs in the face of rapidly increasing living costs."

The plan was approved by the Social Security board, which waived a ruling that awards cannot be modified without a reinvestigation of each case, Babb asserted.

Because of the wartime necessity for secrecy concerning the movements of the royal family, the funeral is expected to be private.

"BIG STEEL" WORKERS WILL GET BACK PAY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Approximately 250,000 "Big Steel" company employees will receive back pay of 5½ cents an hour for the last six months as well as for future work under a wage increase directed by the War Labor Board.

The five subsidiaries of U. S. Steel corporation did not contest the amount of the increase, voted by the board late yesterday, but contended their contracts at the former rate were valid until two weeks ago.

As in the "Little Steel" case of last month, the board also granted the CIO United Steel Workers the checkoff system of dues payment, maintenance of union membership, and minimum daily wage guarantees.

The board said the wage increase was made retroactive to Feb. 15 "in order to maintain the same wage relationship which has existed in the steel industry since 1921."

Affected by the decision, which makes the basic (common labor) wage a steel 78 cents an hour, are employees of Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, Columbia Steel company, American Steel and Wire company, National Tube company, and Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company.

CHUNGKING, Aug. 26.—The counter-attacking Chinese have occupied a point four and one-half miles from Chuhsien

$50,000 for one 90-millimeter anti-aircraft gun sounds like a lot of money, doesn't it? But this type gun is a real "plane-crasher" — one shell from it can smash a half-million dollar Jap bomber quicker than you can sweat a fly.

THIS ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUN COSTS $50,000

YOUR HOUSE may not be a military target, but bombs don't stop to inquire. Bombs don't ask your name or the names of your children, either. In this war, as in no other in history, we are all targets. Black-outs merge soldiers and civilians alike. "War is hell" . . . for all of us. And it is costly . . . for all of us.

Take the anti-aircraft guns that must be counted on to protect your home, your family. Did you know that just one costs $50,000? Just one—and we need 20,000 at once . . . for the fighting front as well as the home front.

Who's going to pay the bill? Not only for the guns, but for the tanks and ships and planes our boys must have to smash the Axis?

Who? Why all of us, . . . you and I and the man next door. Because we are all in this war, and because blood and tears and sweat don't mean a thing if they do not come from everybody. Everybody must put every dime and dollar he can spare into Bonds and Stamps, even if it means going without something else . . . remembering that we are apt to go without everything, unless we win. Here is one sure way to turn your patriotism into action and to help win this war—go to your local bank, post office, or other official agency for Bonds now!

Remember you can start buying Bonds by buying Stamps for as little as 10c and that you get a $25.00 Bond (maturity value) for only $18.75.

Record Crowd Sees Cardinals Beat Bums In 14 Inning Tilt

BROWNS CUFF NATS TWICE, MOVE INTO A. L. THIRD PLACE

Wyatt, Cooper Pitch 12
Scoreless Innings:
French Loser

BY JUDSON BAILEY
The cup of cheer for St. Louis baseball fans is brimming over today with the Cardinals chopping away viciously at the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Browns installed in third place in the American league.

And the people of the metropolis on the Mississippi are turning out for the show. They set a record for a night game in St. Louis Monday night with 25,588 and last night 33,260 jammed into Sportsman's Park to set a new mark—and to see one of the most breath-taking baseball battles of this or any other season.

For 12 innings the struggle was a scoreless standoff between those master hurlers, Whit Wyatt of the Dodgers and Mort Cooper of the Cards. Then things started happening fast. Manager Leo Durocher and Coach Chuck Dressen of the National league champions were banished from the field during an argument with the umpires. In the 13th Brooklyn broke the spell with a run off Cooper and the Redbirds retaliated by tying the score against Wyatt.

Larry French, the veteran southpaw who hasn't been beaten by any club except St. Louis, smothered the rally, but in the 14th he and Rookie Les Webber were victimized for the deciding run with the Cards getting a 2-1 triumph on a close play at home plate.

Browns Take Stride

It was the second straight success for the Cardinals in their flourishing bid to overhaul Brooklyn and reduce the margin between the clubs to 5½ games, but it was rivaled by the big stride of the St. Louis Browns far away in Washington, where they captured a twilight-night doubleheader to move into third place in the American league.

Al Hollingsworth and Dennis Gacheau combined in a seven-hitter hurling job to stop the Senators 8-1 in the first game and George McQuinn set off a rally in the 11th inning with a single to win the nightcap 3-2.

The St. Louis spurt was helped by the Boston Red Sox, who clamped down twice on the Cleveland Indians 4-3 and 5-1.

The New York Yankees were held to seven hits by Johnny Humphries, but the defense of the Chicago White Sox collapsed to give the world champions three runs in the seventh and Joe Gordon homered with one aboard in the eighth for a 5-3 verdict.

At Cincinnati, the eight-game winning streak of Carl Hubbell was broken as Johnny Vander Meer pitched the Cincinnati Reds to a 3-1 victory over the New York Giants.

Truett (Rip) Sewell held the Boston Braves to three hits, all of them by Tommy Holmes, and scored his fifth shutout of the season for the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-0. The Philadelphia Phils outlived the Chicago Cubs 15-12 and won 6-4.

VANDER MEER BESTS HUBBELL IN BATTLE

CINCINNATI, Aug. 26. — Still hopeful of climbing back into third place, the Cincinnati Reds try today against the New York Giants for their second two-game winning streak of a sad August.

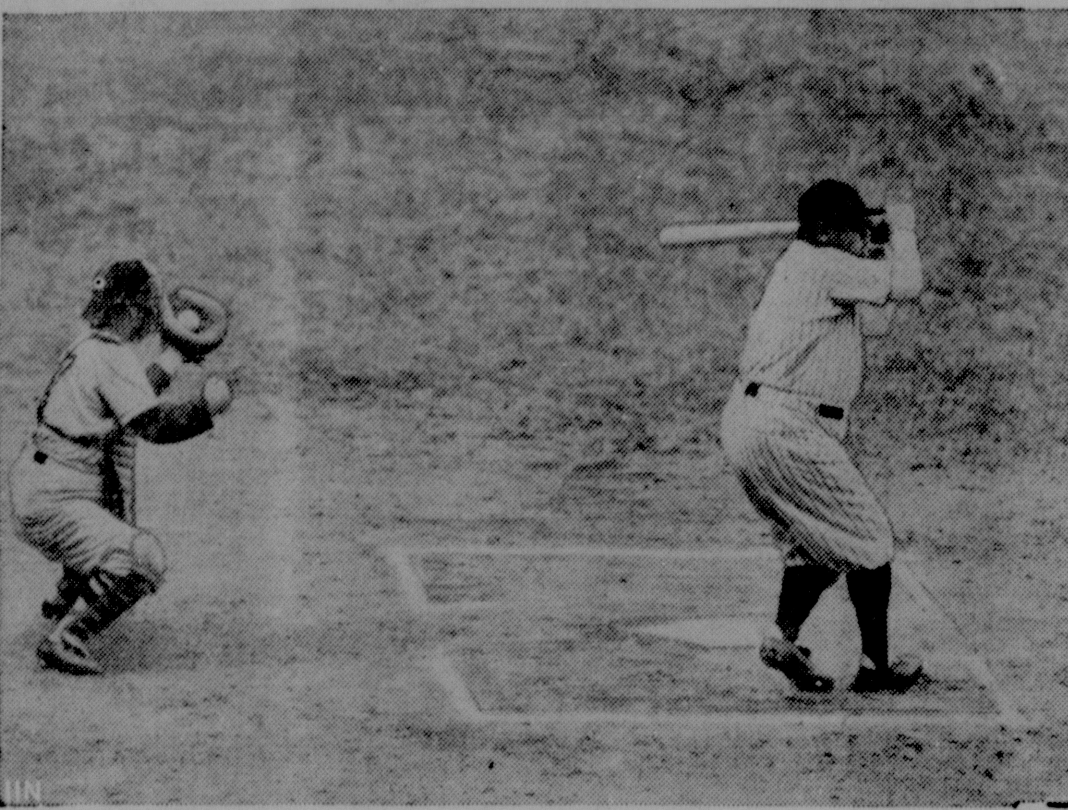

By winning the series opener 3-1 last night, the Reds cut the Giants' hold on third place to four games. Johnny Vander Meer, who's won five of the six victories the Reds have achieved in their last 20 games, notched his 15th victory of the season.

For Carl Hubbell of the Giants, it was his first defeat in nine games.

Vandy fanned 14 Giants to raise his season's strikeout total to 140, highest in the majors.

Hubbell and Vandy each gave eight hits, but Hubbell fumbled Lonnie Frey's slow roller after Vander Meer had beaten an infield hit to help the Reds to two unearned

Sultan of Swat Swings at Big Train's "Smoke"

George Herman Ruth comes temporarily out of retirement and once again is the Mighty Sultan of Swat, matching his slugging against the pitching of Walter Johnson, remembered as the Big Train. The Babe is seen taking a cut at one of the Big Train's smoke balls as he attempts again to send the horseshoe out to Ruthville, famed spot in the Yankee stadium bleachers, where he formerly parked his homers. Benny Bengough, who used to catch for the Yankees during Babe's heyday, is behind the plate. The match between these two ex-giants of baseball was staged at New York's Yankee stadium as an added attraction to a double-header for the benefit of Army-Navy Relief.

BOUDREAU EJECTED AS INDIANS SLUMP

Three-Run Jinx Pursues Tribe; Ken Chase Is 4-3 Winner

BOSTON, Aug. 26. — Manager Lou Boudreau probably wondered today whether his skidding Indians ever again would cross home plate more than three times in a single game.

A three-run limit that had dogged Cleveland in 15 preceding contests persisted yesterday as the Tribe dropped into fourth place—nine and a game half games behind the aspiring Red Sox—by losing both ends of a double header to Boston, 4 to 3 in 11 innings and 5 to 1.

Meanwhile, St. Louis swept a twin bill at Washington to take over third place with a lead of one and a half games.

Boudreau himself tried to show the Tribe the way to more than three runs in the opener, breaking a 2-all tie in the 11th by smothering his second homer of the season. Then Boston came back as Don DiMaggio singled and advanced on Johnny Pesky's bunt.

Ted Williams forced Pesky at second Boudreau was bumped so hard on the play he threw into the Boston dugout while trying for the double play at first. DiMaggio scored the tying run. Bobby Doerr and Tony Lupien were passed filling the bases. Lou Finney's hit off Ray Mack's glove drove in Williams with the winning run.

Boudreau protested his bumping so vigorously that Umpire Cal Hubbard ordered him out of the second game.

Cleveland's lone run in the nightcap came in the first inning on singles by Ken Keltner and Jeff Heath and a passed ball. In their half of the first, the Red Sox tied it up with DiMaggio's triple and Pesky's fly, then decided the outcome in the third on a pass. Pesky's single and Williams' fly.

Williams went hitless in eight times at bat during the two games, and forfeited his major league's batting lead to Joe Gordon of the Yankees.

Runs in the third inning, the first Cincinnati scored in 27 innings. A walk, sacrifice and single added another home team tally in the eighth.

The Giants' lone run resulted from fourth-inning singles by Johnny Mize, Babe Barna and Harry Danning.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—The war almost wrecked the national tennis championships, by taking what the pros left—Don McNeill, Betsy Grant, Jack Kramer, Joe Hunt, Frank Guernsey and several others—but the army and navy are making a pretty good contribution to the entry list. The soldiers are Lieutenants Russell Bobbitt and C. Alphonso Smith, Sergeant Ralph Adair, Corporals J. Gilbert Hunt and Gilbert A. Hunt, and Private Marvin P. Anthony. Navy men are Ensigns Ronald Edwards and Robert Kerdasha and Lieutenant (JG) Gardner Mulloy.

Shocking, Isn't It?

Dave Di Filippo, former Villanova lineman who is a member of the eastern army all-star squad, was riding on a New Haven street car the other day when it was struck by a bolt of lightning. Afterwards Dave reported: "It's just the same as tackling Norm Standlee head-on. You get the same buzzing sounds in your head."

Today's Guest Star

C. M. Gibbs, Baltimore Sun: "Babe Ruth has changed a lot since his active diamond days. The Babe apparently knew Walter Johnson's name without prompting and didn't say, 'hello, kid,' as they met. You can hardly believe he didn't have some coaching on that before-hand."

Dot's All, Brothers

Jimmy Hines, who supervised that "remote control" golf tourney for a big insurance company, analyzed the cards of 11,039 golfers who played on courses over 5,800 yards. He came up with the news that the hardest hole to score on was the first, which required an average of 5.5 strokes, and that they needed 5.3 strokes on the eighteenth. Maybe they were just trying to make both ends meet.

BOWLING LEAGUES FORMING RAPIDLY

National, Federal Loops Ready; Hull, Taylor Are Presidents

Two more of the Masonic alley leagues, the National and Federal loops, have completed their organization steps, with officers being chosen and opening dates set.

The National league will be composed of the Salem China, Electric Furnace, Eagles, Demings, Grates, Albrights Realtors, Salem News and National Sanitary. Albrights and Demings are the loop's two new outfits, replacing the City Loan and the Masons, who dropped out.

Officers elected are: President, Bill Hull; vice president, George Harroff; secretary-treasurer, Andy Dixon. The league will begin competition Sept. 15.

With but one new outfit in the circuit, the Federal loop is ready to get under way on Sept. 11. Gondas entered to take the place of Meissners, who moved up to another league.

The other seven entrants are the Knights of Columbus, National Sanitary Foremen, National Sanitary Shippers, Sheen's Service, the Eagles, Brownie's Service and Beeler's Sohloans.

Henry Taylor was elected to head the circuit, while Clyde Beeler was named vice president, and Fred Steffel secretary-treasurer.

Organization of the Grate loops will get under way tonight at a meeting of all the leagues at 8 at the alleys. Any team wishing entrance to a league is asked to have a representative present at the gathering.

Blue Sox Meet Merchants On Local Ground Tonight

The Salem Blue Sox of the Eastern Ohio loop will meet another foe at Centennial park tonight but the opposition will be the Columbiana Merchants instead of the Sandlot All-Stars, who have trimmed the Blue Hose outfit three consecutive weeks.

George Wukotich will take the slab for the locals while Melvin Wukotich will do the catching.

The rest of the lineup will include "Dutch" Mileusnic, Paul Scullion, Paul Wukotich and Sam Prillon in the infield, and "Juke" Kovach, Dan Kenst and Al Catlos in the garden.

Engineers Use Metal Robots To Protect Vital Pipe Lines

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Wide World Science Editor

NEW YORK — Metal robots, which sit on poles five feet above the ground, and protect oil and gas pipelines against rust, are joining the national effort to ease fuel rationing.

There may be only one robot per mile, and it may be a mile from the nearest pipe line, but in that area no pipe rust forms.

America has 420,000 miles of pipe lines, with more now building to rush gasoline and fuel oil to the east. National rationing prospects appear to depend in part on the efficiency of the lines. In the past rust has been a terrific handicap in some places.

The rust boxes, the result of 10 years experiments, have shown their efficiency in Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi and northern Florida for the United Gas Pipe Line company and in Montana for the Montana Power Co. Millions of dollars worth of them are going up on poles in other parts of the nation to protect underground iron and steel.

They were developed by Engineers of Ebasco Services Incorporated, a research organization of Electric Bond & Share company. The Ebasco engineers' report was made public today.

Electrolysis Causes Rust

A new idea of the cause of rust is the basis of the robot. Experts hitherto have considered rust simply by the textbook definition of oxygen reacting with metal. But the Ebasco engineers say rust is caused by electrolysis, that is, a flow of electricity, which carries particles of metal (tons of metal) with it. In proof, they point to pipe lines which used to rust; but where there has been no particle of rust since the robots went to work.

The robots merely stop electrolysis, nothing more. In underground metal there is always likely to be electrolysis, due to earth currents. Always these currents flow outward from the metal into the earth.

One ampere of this current will carry away metal at the rate of 20 pounds a year. In pipelines the amperages vary widely, but the rate of loss of metal never changes.

The robots stop all this merely by reversing the direction of flow of earth currents—so that they go into the pipe instead of out. Each robot is a metal box about the size of a small suitcase. Its interior is a rectifier—an apparatus which changes alternating into direct current.

The power lines feed the robots the standard alternating current, they change it into direct, which is the kind of electricity that flows in the earth.

The robot feeds a little of this direct current into a mass of iron buried in earth near the robot's foot. A fine wire runs from the robot directly to the pipeline. The result is that currents of electricity run through the earth from the

VANDALIA EVENT FEATURES CLASS CONTESTS TODAY

Hotshots Fire Against Marksmen of Own Caliber

BY FRITZ HOWELL
(By Associated Press)

VANDALIA, Aug. 26.—Trapshooters of the western hemisphere get their one chance to fire against marksmen of their own caliber today in the class championships of the 43rd Grand American.

Based on their season's average on registered targets, the huge field will be divided into sections and battle it out over the 200-target route at 16 yards.

Top class is AA, for those averaging 97 per cent and over, followed in order by Class A (94 per cent and under 97), Class B (91 per cent and under 94), Class C (88 per cent and under 91), and Class D (under 88 per cent).

More than $2500 in prizes will be awarded.

In addition to the class title races, the state team race is on tap. Each state is permitted two five-man teams, with the winner taking down $150 and the second placers $100.

Also on the slate, left over from yesterday, were shoot-offs for the men's and women's North American 16-yard clay target championships. Five men and three women battle it out for the titles after tying over the 200-target route.

Deadlocked at 199

In the men's race, knotted at 199, where Hale Jones of Wood River, Ill., Junior Dick of Minneapolis, Bill Drennan of Utica, Ill., Walter Beaver of Conshohocken, Pa., and H. M. Schick of Lee's Summit, Mo., were tied.

Mrs. Lela Hall of Strasburg, Mo., winner of the women's crown five times in the last seven years, and rated the greatest feminine star the game ever has known, was tied for the title by Mrs. George Cameron of Houston, Tex., and Mrs. Isaac Andrews of Spartansburg, S. C.

Clyde Mitchell of Bridgeport, Conn., who had tied six times for the professional North American 16-yard championship, but had lost all six shoot-offs, finally crashed through with 196 of 200 to win yesterday. He nose out his hunting partner, Clyde Wells, also of Bridgeport, by two targets.

In other hold-over events yesterday, John Eschelman of Lancaster, won the veterans' crown in a shoot-off, while Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Rader of Jeffersonville, did the same in the husband-wife race. The 72-year-old Eschelman scored 24 of 25 to defeat George Nicolai, 75, of Kansas City, who bagged 23 targets. The Raders hit 48 of 50, trouncing Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Andrews of Spartansburg, who had 45 of 50.

VOTE DISPUTE MAY END HOUSE RECESS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The month-old informal house recess today appeared headed for an abrupt end as irate southern members levelled their guns at senate revisions in a bill to permit men and women in the armed forces to vote by mail.

Their principal objection, they said, was to the senate amendment exempting service members from payment of the poll taxes required by Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Texas, Virginia, South Carolina and Arkansas. The senate adopted the amendment by a vote of 33 to 20 over the opposition of southerners who termed it an invasion of states' rights to determine the qualification of their voters. The house previously rejected a similar proviso.

The senate also wrote in an amendment extending the vote-by-

SOLOMONS BATTLE CONTINUES TODAY

Japs Apparently Risking Heavy Portion of Their Fleet

ported destruction of 13 grounded Japanese planes and silencing of an anti-aircraft battery in two surprise attacks on Buna, on the southeastern New Guinea mainland.
Southward, Allied fighters claimed destruction of several beached Japanese barges and supplies ships.

United States advantages in the possibly decisive sea battle were expected to lie in the fact that the Marines have had time to dig in and consolidate their positions since they stormed ashore on the islands two and a half weeks ago.

Supported by substantial Navy and Army sea and air forces, the defenders, as at Midway, had the advantage of being able to send land-based aircraft against a sea attack.

After the Navy's first communication yesterday on what it termed development of an expected "violent attempt" to recapture the American-held bases, one official who declined to be quoted by name, expressed the opinion that "we are winning the second round of the battle of the Solomons."

But, he added quickly, "the round is not over yet."

sinking of Brazilian ships, expressed Venezuela's "sincere sympathy and solidarity" with Brazil.
Argentina, Bolivia, Chile, Colomclared they regard Brazil as a non-dicated even closer solidarity.

world everywhere, in United Nations and enemy countries, too, if the duties, responsibilities and opportunities of youth in the days of war and in the days of peace that will follow.

Service Men to Listen

Early said an effort would be made through the Army, Navy and Office of War Information, to complete arrangements for men on naval and coast guard vessels and men in military camps, wherever they may be, to hear the chief executive's talk.

The August 31 address, which will be about ten minutes long, Early said, is set for about 4:30 p. m., Eastern War Time. The Navy will arrange for the program to reach Navy units and hospitals at stations all over the world where representatives of the bureau of medicine and surgery are on duty.

Many of the United Nations, including Russia, the Netherlands and England, Early said, are sending official delegates to the students assembly.

China was unable to do so, he said, but Madame Chiang Kai Shek, wife of the Chinese generalissimo, will designate her country's representatives.

Mr. Roosevelt revealed yesterday at his press conference that he was preparing a plan to keep down living costs by stabilizing both wages and farm prices. He said both labor and agriculture must make sacrifices, tough sacrifices, and that restrictions could not be placed on one without being imposed on the other.

He called the labor leaders, Philip Murray, CIO chief, and William Green, AFL president, to the White House today to go over the situation and what already has done with farm and other groups.

No final decision has been reached, but the President said he hoped to have something ready to announce to the country in a radio speech, and simultaneously in a message to congress, before, on, or after Labor day.

There was some chance that the announcement might come before the end of this month, provided the President has made up his mind by then.

Whether new legislation would be sought was problematical, as Mr. Roosevelt said time was short and spiraling of costs may get out of hand in 30 days. Administration leaders began calling absent congressmen back to Washington, however, to receive his message.

The cost of living will be only a part of the speech he will make, the President said, indicating he probably would touch on the war in general.

Speaking more plainly about wage and farm price stabilization than at any time since his seven-point price control message to congress on April 27, the President told his press conference that wages could not be stabilized without stabilizing farm prices and vice versa.

Cites Present Levels

Generally speaking, he said, wages should be stabilized at essentially present levels. But he qualified this by saying common sense should be applied. He did not believe, for example, that if food prices rose another 30 per cent, that the wage scale should be kept where it is now. On the other hand, he added, if food costs were held down to where they are now he saw no reason why labor should get an advantage.

The President said great progress had been made since spring in slowing up the rise in living costs to a fraction of one per cent. But something more would have to be done to make this permanent, he said, adding that as soon as price ceilings are raised the whole program gets on dangerous ground.

At one point in his lengthy discussion, Mr. Roosevelt said the country was being a bit whipsawed between two groups—labor and agriculture—when as a matter of fact they were not too separate groups but all of them were Americans.
All had to share in the burdens alike, he repeated.

He agreed it was possible for food costs without proper controls to rise 30 per cent in a year, and asserted the objective of his plan would be to make that less likely.

BATTLE FOR LABOR JOB NEAR SHOWDOWN

COLUMBUS, Aug. 26.—As rival factions predicted victory for their candidates, a sharp fight for the $5,000-a-year office of secretary-treasurer of the Ohio State Federation of Labor moved toward a showdown today.

The battle between Thomas J.
Donnelly of Columbus, who has held the post for 28 years, and Phil Hannah of Cleveland reached the floor of the federation's convention yesterday in a turbulent session following Donnelly's annual report.

Donnelly suggested the convention might consider providing for a full-time president. President Michael J. Lyden of Youngstown has served without pay.

William E. Finegan of Cleveland, sixth vice president, told the convention that he and Donnelly were the first to suggest such a move, and that Donnelly opposed it.

Donnelly countered that Finegan had been active in a "political" campaign to unseat him and that Finegan made the suggestion privately and not in a board session.

John Rhorich of Cleveland, fifth vice president, declared that Finegan's suggestion was made in a board meeting and termed Donnelly's assertion a "deliberate lie."

Kent, King George's Brother, Killed In Airplane Crash

The tragic death of the Duke of Kent, 39-year-old brother of Great Britain's King George VI, in an airplane accident, profoundly shocked all of Great Britain and cast a pall of grief over the royal family.
The duke, seen wearing the uniform of an R. A. F. commodore in this recent picture with his family, met death when the huge Sunderland flying boat which was taking him to Iceland crashed in northern Scotland, killing all aboard. Authoritative quarters emphasized that the flying boat had not been attacked by enemy planes.

Only in the sector below Kramonadar were Russian detachments reported to have fallen back.

Tanks Cross Don
Red Star said several Nazi tank divisions had crossed the Don river to the 40-mile corridor between the Don and Volga rivers and a ten-engagement raged northwest Stalingrad.

Russian tanks dispatched direc-ly from their bases were reported to have checked the Germans in fighting still progressing.
Field dispatches said a Red army force cut sharply into a flank of the relatively thin German salient east of the Don river, but the invaders resisted fiercely and continued to advance frontally.

A ray of hope amid the somber military news was contained in a Red Star editorial which said "the battles in the south have entered a new phase" now that the Germans have reached the main ar-rrier of the Caucasus mountains.
The campaign previously has been on the broad plains and foothills.
